

MEXICO TO THE ARCTIC SEARCH FOR MINERALS

Lure of Gold Calls Prospector to Far North—A. McCrae Will Leave This Month—Says Fisheries of Arctic Sufficient to Pay for Railway to Fort McMurray

It is a far cry from Mexico to the mouth of the McKenzie river, in the Arctic Ocean, but that is the distance over which the lure of the gold will bring A. McCrae, an old time miner, California and Klondike miner and prospector, who will go north this month with a party to conduct a thorough prospect of the McKenzie river for minerals.

Mr. McCrae is a guest at the Windsor, and will go north on the 20th of this month. He is a native of the north, but has spent most of his years in the mining states. In Mexico he has recently opened up a wealthy mine of zinc. He knows the geology of the country from A to Z, and was in the Klondike in the days of the gold rush. He also spent three months on the McKenzie river last summer, so that he is not going into a strange country.

Mr. McCrae and his party will hunt for gold, and incidentally any other mineral that they can find.

The party are taking sufficient supplies to last three years, and will be in the north for at least two years, and possibly all of the three.

McCrae is a firm believer in the rich mineral possibilities of the McKenzie district. He says that there are many indications of gold, silver, nickel, asbestos and other valuable minerals lying in the McKenzie.

When you remember that the country has never been prospected, that not a pan has been turned, nor a rock broken on the east side of the McKenzie by any prospector, you can realize what possibilities are, for the country is rich in minerals.

SEPARATE ACTION TO SECURE $1,400,000 OF A.&G.W. MONEY

ATTORNEY FOR WATERWAYS AND CONSTRUCTION COMPANY ASKS FOR A STAY OF PROCEEDINGS UNTIL ROYAL BANK CASE IS SETTLED.

Another chapter in the history of the Great Waterways and Construction Company, the provincial government and the Alberta and Great Waterways railway and Canada West Construction company, for the control of the funds raised by the sale of the Waterways debentures, will be unfolded in supreme court chambers tomorrow when Frank Ford, solicitor for the Alberta and Great Waterways company and the Canada Construction Co., will apply for an order to restrain proceedings in respect to $1,400,000 paid into court by the Union and Dominion banks, until after the action for recovery of $6,000,000 in the royal bank has been disposed of. The application will be heard by Mr. Justice Boyd.

Early in the history of the present proceedings, the Union bank, with which $1,000,000 of Waterways monies had been deposited, and the Dominion bank, which held $400,000

TO DISCUSS AMALGAMATION AT MEETING THIS EVENING

THE COMMITTEES REPRESENTING EDMONTON, AND STRATHCONA MEET TONIGHT IN STRATHCONA COUNCIL CHAMBERS.

Strathcona, April 10.—The bars leading to a field wherein may be earned on negotiations for Twin City union have been let down and the first meeting of the two committees will be held tonight in the council chambers here. The civic auditors for some time past have closed the passageway for these negotiations, but last week saw the completion of the auditors' work on last year's books and no time has since been lost in bringing the two amalgamation boards together. Mayor Davies said last night that this first meeting will be somewhat preliminary and unofficial, but will open up the question on a broader scale for the real work which is to come in the near future.

There seems little doubt that an agreement for amalgamation on a reciprocal basis would be ratified in Strathcona. The preponderance of opinion is evidently turned that way. However, it is safe to predict that there will never be a settlement arrived at if there is any attempt to hold this city up in the matter, or a hard bargain is insisted on from the union side to make the deal.

It is a little more than a year since the union, plainly pleading the necessities of a trip to Calgary, Jacob P. Kneib, president of the union, had a corner, and presently seized him by the throat, rolled him on the floor, and, after a few blows on the ankles, he was submitted to the union. He was asked for a small portion of this to meet the expenses of a trip south in the winter of work, debtor became indignant.

Kneib appeared in the dock wearing a collar of unusual altitude. He is a little man, and does not look like a fighter. But the numerous scars on his face, the swellings which have made the appearance of a sufferer from mumps, the pieces of porous plaster with which his countenance was decorated, and almost hidden by a wig, told the story of his treatment.

"That's enough evidence to make a good prima facie case," said the magistrate. The defence pleaded extenuation, but the court found that the union had secured a fine of $50 was required to meet the case.

Before the opening of the trial Mr. Kneib had decided, upon the evidence of Mr. Sischinger's face, that this was no case of common assault. It was tried as an indictable offence, and the accused electing to be tried specially.

John I. Mills Starts Construction of $15,000 Auto Palace To Accommodate Increasing Business.

The building is being erected on property owned by Henry Fraser. The garage will be the full size of the lot, 26 by 150 feet, and Mr. Mills states to the Capital this morning that the intention of the building is to be the most up-to-date and finest in the city.

The building is being built of brick and will be completed in the summer.

PREORTED MUTINY OF CHINESE TROOPS

Soldiers Object to Prince Regent, Being Made Commander-in-Chief of Army.

London, April 10.—The Evening Times claims to have advices to the effect that northern Chinese troops stationed at Canton have mutinied because they are dissatisfied over the action of the prince regent in proclaiming himself commander-in-chief of the army. The paper states that Europeans at Canton are fleeing towards the coast, and that the Chinese have been heard of in Hong Kong have heard nothing of the reported revolt and think that the affair must have been greatly exaggerated, other- wise they would have been advised.

SODERBERG TRIAL WILL OPEN TODAY

Settler Man Charged With Murder of William Lennox, Passed Through City This Morning.

Apparently in the best of spirits, and showing no sign of brooding on account of the grave charge which today, Alex Soderberg, the settler raider who is to be tried on a charge of murdering William Lennox, left Strathcona under escort this morning for Settler. He was taken from the cells at the mounted police barracks early this morning.

The trial today takes place before Inspector Worsley of the N. W. M. P., and Magistrate Mitchell of Settler. Great interest has been aroused in the Settler district by the recent arrest of Soderberg, as there are circumstances surrounding the tragedy which have not yet been cleared up. C. A. Grant of this city is prosecuting today in behalf of the attorney general's department, and is assisted by T. M. Tweedie of Calgary and W. C. Robertson of Settler.

DISCUSSED C.P.R. ENTRANCE PLANS

City Commissioners Now Favor Overhead Bridge Instead of Subway Railway Engineers Ask for Plans.

Proposed changes in the grades of the line of the Canadian Pacific railway, from the mouth of the river north, were the subject of a conference on Saturday evening between Com. Stettin, Engineer Latour and engineers of the C. P. R., and the city commissioners. The city commissioners, who are the chief engineer of the C. P. R., Chief Bridge Engineer Montague and Local Engineer P. J. Smith, are on the question in behalf of the company, and requested further information, in the form of profile plans, from the city engineers' department. Mr. Smith promised to give the matter consideration at the earliest possible moment.

The plans of the city engineer provide for an overhead bridge on Jasper avenue, giving a continuous roadway, the full width of the avenue, over the company's crossing. Mr. Smith was not very familiar with the plans, but he stated that he was willing to give the city's proposals consideration, and to do anything in his power to meet the city's wishes. He said that the city had not yet decided where they would erect their station.

As yet no profile plans have been received from the company, and the crossing on Saskatchewan avenue, where the changed conditions which an overhead bridge on Jasper will involve, has been submitted to the city engineers. These plans will be prepared immediately. Practically level ground, which will be possible on McKay and Victoria avenues if the city's proposals are adopted.

German is Fined Fifty Dollars in Police Court for Assaulting Constable Whom He Owed Money.

On Friday last when a creditor named S. Sischinger, a burly German constable with an amiable countenance, was called to the police court, he was plainly pleading the necessities of a trip to Calgary, Jacob P. A boulevard driveway along both the Edmonton and Strathcona sides of the river bank, which will lead east and west for seven or eight miles in each direction, and will make a loop with the high level bridge, is the proposal that will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Edmonton board of trade tomorrow at noon.

This scheme was once accepted by the Rutherford administration, but was allowed to drop on the change of government. The board of trade now propose to bring it forward and urge the matter once more.

It is proposed to acquire right of way for at least 15 miles up and down the river bank on both sides, and make a roadway that will be an attractive feature of the city. It is understood that farmers are willing to give right of way for the road.

PROSECUTE C.N.R. FOR OPERATING

Railway Run Trains to Meet Need of District—G. N. R. May Also Be Fined.

Ottawa, April 10.—Two hundred dollars a day for every day that the company has been operating a branch line from the mouth of the river north, is a line for which the railway commission today recommended to the minister of justice to prosecute the Canadian Northern railway. If the company is found guilty, it will be fined $200 a day for each day of operation. The company has been operating the line since the 1st of March, and the commission has been asked to prosecute the company for operating the line without the necessary permits.

GER. BOOTH 82 YEARS OLD

London, April 10.—The King and Queen were included in the many persons who were received today by General Booth, founder and head of the Salvation Army, on the occasion of his eighty-second birthday anniversary. With the past year the health of General Booth has been failing rapidly and his condition is now such as to cause his friends and family much anxiety. His eyesight is almost totally gone. Nevertheless, despite his age and infirmities, he continues to take an active and ardent interest in the affairs of his organization that he founded nearly half a century ago. Even now, it is said, he contemplates making another world-wide tour of inspection before he resigns the active leadership of the Salvation Army into other hands.

BRITISH FINANCIERS PAY THE CITY A FLYING VISIT

Spent Four Hours in Capital Leaving by C. N. R. Special Train for the East at Noon—Do Not Anticipate General Election in Old Country This Year

"Doing Edmonton in four hours," was the title of a story that Sir Edward Tennant, one of the most distinguished of British peers, will be able to write on his return to the old country, as a result of a flying visit he paid to the city this morning.

Sir E. P. Tennant, Bart., is the way that the British nobleman inscribed his name upon the register of the King Edward Hotel this morning, after his arrival on the midnight train from the south. With him were Marjorie, H. Fryer, and P. R. S. Balfour, financiers from London. They were members of the party that Sir Edward Tennant took west from Toronto to Vancouver in March, and which included Amelius Jarvis, the Toronto financier, and other British financiers, members of the firm of Wood, Shipley and Co. The three men who visited Edmonton this morning left the remainder of the party in the south, and took a sleeper to Edmonton. They spent scarcely four hours around the capital this morning, and towards noon took a special train over the Canadian Northern for the east. The special was made up of the car "Neepawa," the car used by General Manager McLeod, and the car of Capt. H. D. Hymn of the Edmonton division. Sir Edward and his party occupied the "Neepawa." Sir Edward breakfasted at the King Edward this morning, and granted an interview to a Capital reporter afterwards.

There will be no other general election, he said, discussing affairs in the old land. The party, I believe, will accept the new bill with regard to the reformation of their own body, and there will be no call for an election at an active interest in old country politics.

SETTLERS STILL POUR INTO THE CITY BY HUNDREDS

THREE EXCURSIONS REACH THE PROVINCE UNDER AUSPICES OF PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT—SERIOUS LACK OF ACCOMMODATION FOR NEW-COMERS.

Edmonton is the scene to-day of a huge gathering of incoming settlers, who have come on several excursions which converged here during the past three days.

With the local immigration hails poured in capacity, morning trains bringing the newcomers to the city, the local land office staff rushed to distraction to accommodate the throngs that are after the newcomers are taking up new land, the city is witnessing the greatest settlers' rush that ever occurred in the history of the province.

The situation is now such that the immigration officials are facing the task of establishing a new city to accommodate the incoming crowds. Immigration Officer Webster states that the capacity of his halls are now taxed, and with the arrival of hundreds more immigrants he is preparing to put up tents in the vicinity of the halls.

The situation threatens to become serious. "Not a hotel in the city can furnish extra accommodation, and there is not a vacant building in the city to shelter immigrants that cannot find shelter elsewhere. Not a room, not a dwelling, not a shack of any kind is vacant, and the crowd of newcomers will face the necessity of sleeping with the only stars for a night, if they do not find better accommodation."

The publicity commissioners of the province brought special excursions to the city on Saturday. C. R. McCutcheon, of the C. N. R., and J. B. Smith, of the C. P. R., brought in two cars of newcomers from Toronto with 200 people, and J. B. Clarke brought up a like number from Great Falls, Montana. "Four hundred came in over the C. P. R. during the past two days, and the C. N. R. brought in 150 to the city."

But these are not all. A special excursion from Montreal dropped 500 settlers along the C. N. R. in the vicinity of Verreuil, and a Wisconsin excursion brought in two cars of hikers who are out to pay good money for farm lands.

BRITISH OFFICERS SLAIN IN BUNNA

Forty-Eight Coolies Also Massacred—Party on Friendly Mission and Was Unarmed.

Calcutta, April 10.—The report is over that British officers and British assistant medical officer at Suva and Lakshmi, in upper Burma, and a party accompanying him, were murdered on the border of Assam. The British officers, Mr. Williamson and Mr. Gough, accompanied by fifty coolies, were ascending the Bihone river, when they were ambushed by a friendly mission, when they were suddenly attacked. The two white men and forty-eight coolies were massacred. Two coolies escaped and brought the news of the disaster to the nearest town.

ENGINEER LOSES S.U.T.

Winnipeg, April 10.—L. A. C. Manning lost his appeal case to-day against the city for $4,500 in payment for the right of use of the city's water works in connection with the high pressure irrigation. He had applied for an adverse ruling of the King's bench.

MANITOBA FARMERS ARE BUSY SEEDING

Large Increase in Spring Wheat Acreage, Especially in Saskatchewan—Rain Needed.

Winnipeg, April 10.—Manitoba farmers are making a start in earnest to day on seeding operations on their high lands, and seeding will be general by the end of the week. Tardy spring jumped into summer this week and temperatures between sixty and seventy in the shade were recorded yesterday all over the prairie west. It did not get within half a dozen degrees of frost here last night. Reports regarding the seed bed are encouraging, but it is pretty clear that farmers could do with rain, or better still three or four inches of snow. Alternate frosts and thaws of the past few weeks have made the top soil very pliable and soft. The land is light it is a little on the loose side for seeding. With good weather from now on the feature of this spring's seeding is likely to be the heavy increase in acreage. It had been hoped from an adverse ruling of the King's bench.

Fish Would Pay for Railway.

"The fishing alone on the shores of the McKenzie, and the game, the game, would be sufficient an industry to pay easily for the construction of a railway to the north," says Mr. McCrae. "The extent of the possibilities of this industry at the Arctic. The white fish there are the finest in the world, and there is an Arctic trout that beats everything in the line of fish."

SEPARATE ACTION TO SECURE $1,400,000 OF A.G.W. MONEY

ATTORNEY FOR WATERWAYS AND CONSTRUCTION COMPANY ASKS FOR STAY OF PROCEEDINGS UNTIL ROYAL BANK CASE IS SETTLED

Another chapter in the history of the legal battle between the provincial government and the Alberta and Great Waterways railway and Canada West Construction company, for the control of the funds raised by the sale of the Waterways debentures, will be unfolded in supreme court chambers tomorrow when Frank Ford, K. C., counsel for the Alberta and Canada West company and the Canada Construction Co., will apply for an order to restrain proceedings in respect to $1,400,000 paid into court by the Union and Dominion banks, until after the action for recovery of $6,000,000 in the Royal bank has been disposed of. The application will be heard by Mr. Justice Giesbrecht.

Early in the history of the present proceedings, the Union bank, with which $1,000,000 of Waterways monies had been deposited, and the Dominion bank, which held $400,000 of the funds of the company, paid the monies into court, thereby becoming claimants as parties to the action. The action for the recovery of this portion of the monies is now between the provincial government and the Canada Construction Co. It is a distinct action from that which is now pending between the province and the Union and Dominion banks, and the Royal bank, and the Canada Construction Co. on the one hand.

Mr. Ford will ask for the order restraining proceedings, in order that the multiplicity of actions in this case may be avoided. The disposition of the monies deposited in the Royal bank would practically settle the action in respect to the remaining $1,400,000 of the Waterways monies which has been paid into court.

L. P. Clary, deputy attorney general, will appear for the province when the application comes up in chambers tomorrow.

TO DISCUSS AMALGAMATION AT MEETING THIS EVENING

THE COMMITTEES REPRESENTING EDMONTON, AND STRATHCONA MEET TONIGHT IN STRATHCONA COUNCIL CHAMBERS.

Strathcona, April 10.—The bars leading to a field where the two committees representing Edmonton and Strathcona met tonight in Strathcona Council Chambers.

The meeting was held in the council chambers here. The civic authorities for some time past have closed the passage way for these negotiations, but last week saw the completion of the work on last year's work which is to come in the near future.

There seems little doubt that an agreement for amalgamation on a generous and equitable basis would be ratified in Strathcona. The preponderant opinion is unanimously formed that way. However, it is safe to predict that there will never be a settlement.

WILL ERECT BIG GARAGE ON SECOND

John I. Mills Starts Construction on $150,000 Auto Park to Accommodate Increasing Business.

Construction was commenced today upon a large new automobile garage for John I. Mills, on Second street, just north of Jasper, at cost $150,000.

PREPARED MUTINY OF CHINESE SOLDIERS

Soldiers Object to Prince Regent Being Made Commander-in-Chief of Army

London, April 10.—The Evening Times claims to have advice to the effect that all northern Chinese troops stationed at Canton have mutinied because of the appointment of Prince Regent as Commander-in-Chief of the army. London banks have been closed, and it is thought that the mutiny has been greatly exaggerated, as otherwise they would have been advised.

DISCUSSED C.P.R. ENTRANCE PLANS

City Commissioners Now Favor Overhead Bridge Instead of Subway

Proposed changes in the grades of the line of the Canadian Pacific railway, from the high level bridge north, to the subject of a conference on Saturday, which was held at the Hotel Butcher, Engineer Latour and engineers of the company, J. E. Southam, and the city engineer, Mr. J. E. Southam, C. P. R. Chief Engineer, Mr. Southam and Local Engineer Farrar, took the question in behalf of the company, and requested further information, in the form of profile plans, from the city engineer's department. Mr. Southam promised to give the matter consideration at the earliest possible date.

The plans of the city engineer provide for an overhead bridge on Jasper avenue, giving a continuous roadway, the full width of the avenue, over the railway tracks. Mr. Southam was not very familiar with local conditions, but declared that he was willing to give the city proposals consideration, and to do anything in reason to meet the city's wishes. He decided where the company had not yet decided where they would erect the station.

ASKED FOR MONEY GOT A THRASHING

German is Fined Fifty Dollars in Police Court for Asking Compulsory Whom He Owed Money.

On Friday last when a creditor named S. Siesinger, a burly German, came to court with an amiable countenance, called to ask for a little money, he was met, plaintively pleading the necessities of a trip to Calgary, Jacob P. Kneveler, a German, who was sitting at a corner, and presently seized him by the throat, rolled him on the floor, and held him there for a moment. He was his own contentment. Siesinger described his woeful experience in the police court, and said that he was asked for a small portion of this to make a trip to Calgary. The search of work, debt became intolerant.

Kneveler appeared in the dock wearing a collar of unusual altitude. He is a little man, and does not look like a fighter. But the numerous scars on Siesinger's face, the swellings which gave him the appearance of a sufferer from Mumps, the pieces of porous plaster with which his countenance was decorated, and almost hidden, bore testimony to the thrashing which he had received.

STEAMER INQUIRY SINKS

PROSECUTE C.N.R. FOR OPERATING

Railway Ran Trains to Meet Need of District—G. T. P. May Also Be Fined.

Ottawa, April 10.—Two hundred dollars a day for every day that the company's train has been operating between Halton and Beulah, Man., is a fine that the railway commission today recommended to the minister of justice to prosecute the Canadian Northern railway. If the full amount is imposed will be no less than one, for the company has handled freight traffic over the line complained of for a long time.

The commissioners on investigating found that no tariff charged on the line between Halton and Beulah, Man., is a fine that the railway commission today recommended to the minister of justice to prosecute the Canadian Northern railway. If the full amount is imposed will be no less than one, for the company has handled freight traffic over the line complained of for a long time.

Ex-Judge Phinney, general counsel for the Canadian Northern, represented the company's interests. "I know that the carrying of freight has been illegal," he said, "but what is to be done about it? We have been operating to satisfy the needs of the country and rates cannot be excessive on a road not yet open to competition."

A general discussion ensued on the right of a railway company to cross highways without first submitting detailed plans for crossings and getting permission of the municipalities.

BRITISH FINANCIERS PAY THE CITY A FLYING VISIT

Spent Four Hours in Capital Leaving by C. N. R. Special Train for the East at Noon—Do Not Anticipate General Election in Old Country This Year

"Doing Edmonton in four hours," is the title of a story that Sir Edward Tennant, one of the most distinguished of British peers, will be able to write on his return to the old country, as a result of a flying visit he paid to the city this morning.

Sir E. P. Tennant, Bart., is the way that the British nobility, including his name upon the register of the King Edward hotel this morning, after his arrival on the midnight train from the south. With him were Marlborough R. Fryer, and F. R. S. Balfour, financiers from London. They were members of the party that Sir Edward Tennant took west from Toronto to Vancouver in March, and which included Amelie, the Toronto financier, and other British financiers, members of the firm of Wood, Shipley and Co. The three men who visited Edmonton this morning left the remainder of the party in the south, and took a sleeper to Edmonton. They spent scarcely four hours around the capital this morning, and towards noon took a special train over the Canadian Pacific to the east. The special was made up of the cars "Newspaper," the car used by General Macleod, and the car of Capt. Brown, and his party occupied the "Newspaper."

Sir Edward breakfasted at the King Edward this morning, and granted an interview to a Capital reporter after the visit.

There will not be another general election," he said, discussing affairs in the old land. "The lords, I believe, will accept the new constitution regarding the reformation of their own body, and there will be no call for an election. We expect a quiet year in politics, owing to the coronation, though the battle may warm up afterwards."

Believes in Reciprocity.

Sir Edward is in favor of Canadian reciprocity with the United States. "Of course," he said, when questioned regarding the new reciprocity pact, "I have read all the news with regard to it, but I have not had any opportunity of discussing this at home, as it came up only just as we were leaving. Personally, I should rather favor it, but it seems a little premature. It would have been better a few years from now."

Sir Edward has never been in the west before. He visited Toronto in 1879, and on this his first trip over the prairies, he has been accompanied by his wife and daughter. He is taken with Edmonton and its situation. He will probably visit to some extent in the west, but has not done so as yet.

SETTLERS STILL POUR INTO THE CITY BY HUNDREDS

THREE EXCURSIONS REACH THE PROVINCE UNDER AUSPICES OF PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT—SERIOUS LACK OF ACCOMMODATION FOR NEW-COMERS.

Edmonton is the scene to-day of a huge gathering of incoming settlers, who have come on several excursion trains during the past three days.

With the local immigration halls crowded to capacity, incoming trains bringing additional waves of settlers, and the land office staff rushed to provide accommodation of some nature.

The publicity commissioners of the province brought special excursions to the city on Saturday. C. R. McCutcheon, a well-known settler, brought a party of 200 people, and W. I. Clarke brought up a like number of settlers.

But these are not all. A special excursion from Montreal dropped 500 settlers along the C. N. R. in the vicinity of Verreille, and a Wisconsin excursion brought in two cars of buyers who are out to pay good money for farm land.

BRITISH OFFICERS SLAIN IN BUNNA

Forty-Eight Coolies Also Massacred—Party on Friendly Mission and Was Unarmed.

Calcutta, April 10.—The report is confirmed that Mr. Williamson, the British assistant medical officer at Sadiya, a party accompanying him, were murdered on the border of Assam by savages. Mr. Williamson and Mr. Gossington, accompanied by 48 coolies, were ascending the Dihong river, when they were attacked by a party of 400 natives. The two white men and forty-eight of the coolies were massacred. Two coolies escaped and brought the news of the disaster to the nearest town.

MANITOBA FARMERS ARE BUSY SEEDING

Winnipeg, April 10.—Manitoba farmers are making a start in earnest today on seeding operations on their high lands and some will be general by the end of the week. Tardy spring jumped into summer this week and end temperatures between sixty and seventy in the shade were recorded yesterday all over the prairie west. The top soil is very pliable and of frost here last night. Reports regarding the seed loss are conflicting. The farmers are busy seeding. With good weather from now on the seed sown this spring's seeding is likely to be the greatly increased acreage laid down to grain wheat, especially in Saskatchewan.

ENGINEER LOSES SUI

Winnipeg, April 10.—R. A. G. Manning, an engineer, lost his life yesterday when he was struck by a train while crossing the tracks. He was on his way to work. The train was carrying a heavy load of coal. The engineer was killed instantly.

HOW NAPOLEON WAS SPANKED

When in exile at Elba, Napoleon told a story of how his mother spanked him. One day, it appears, his mother's mother was huddled alone the street in Ajaccio, when Napoleon and his sister Pauline followed the old lady and mimicked her. Their grandmother turned and caught them in the act. She complained to Madame Letitia Bonaparte. Pauline was at once spanked and disposed of. Napoleon, who was out in his regimentals, could not be handled, since the uniform was as sacred as the flag. But his mother bided her time. The next day, when her son was off his guard, she called out: "Napoleon! Napoleon! Quick! You are invited to dine with the sovereign!" Whereupon the future emperor ran to his room to change his clothes. His mother quietly followed, and when she judged that the proper time had come, rushed into the room, seized her undressed hero before he guessed her purpose, laid him across her knee, and belabored him earnestly with the flat of her hand.

Suffered for Years From Constipation and Sick Headache.

Headache seems habitual with many people; indeed, some are seldom, if ever, free from it, suffering continually, and wondering why they can get no relief. The most frequent of all are bilious or sick headaches, and are caused by some derangement of the stomach or bowels, or both.

Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the digestive and biliary organs, removes acidity of the stomach, improves digestion, regulates the constipated bowels, and promotes a perfect circulation of pure blood to all portions of the body.

Mrs. C. Meadows, Clarkburg, Ont., writes: "For years I was troubled with sick headache and dizziness, and was also constipated. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I only took three bottles of the medicine, and now feel like a new person as I am completely cured. I can truthfully testify that B.B.B. is the best medicine I have ever used."

Burdock Blood Bitters, has, during the last 35 years, built up an unrivalled reputation as a cure for all troubles arising from a constipated condition of the bowels.

NEWS FORECAST FOR THE COMING WEEK

Chicago Philanthropist Will Celebrate 91st Birthday—"Lop Line" Cases Before Commerce Commission.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The proceedings of Congress and the situation in Mexico promise to continue as the leading subjects for news despatches and editorial comment. To these will be added numerous other events and happenings of more or less public interest and importance.

The ensuing seven days will mark the anniversaries of many memorable events connected with the civil war. Sunday will be the forty-sixth anniversary of that memorable Sunday in 1865, when the great conflict was brought to a close by Lee's surrender at Appomattox. The anniversaries of President Lincoln's first call for volunteers in 1861 and of the President's assassination four years later will also fall during the week. Most widely observed of all, however, will be the fifth anniversary of the firing on Fort Sumter, which marked the beginning of the war.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt is scheduled to leave Spokane Monday on his way east. After making several brief stops on the way he will arrive in Chicago Saturday and in New York the next day.

The situation of the politicians will be centered largely in the Jefferson birthday banquet to be given in Indianapolis Thursday night under the auspices of the National Democratic League of Clubs. The affair is looked upon as the real beginning of the Democratic presidential campaign of 1912. The scheduled speakers include William J. Bryan, Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, Governor Elihu Root of Ohio and Governor Thomas P. Marshall of Indiana.

On the same night a similar celebration is to take place at the New Willard Hotel in Washington under the auspices of the College Men's Democratic League. Speaker Champ Clark will deliver the principal address of the evening. The other speakers will include Thomas Nelson Page and Warren Jefferson Davis, president of the league.

On Monday and Tuesday the Massachusetts Institute of Technology will celebrate the semi-centennial of the granting of its charter by holding sessions of a Congress of Technology. The celebration will be followed on Wednesday by the annual meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers.

Dr. D. K. Pearson, the Chicago philanthropist, has announced his intention to celebrate his ninety-first birthday anniversary Friday by the distribution of $300,000 to schools and religious organizations. This will make his total distributions of recent years nearly $5,000,000, most of which has been given to small colleges.

The so-called "tap-line" cases are set for oral argument before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington Wednesday. The cases are regarded as of much importance in railroad and shipping circles as the issues involved include the question of rebates and also the question of what constitutes a common carrier.

For baseball enthusiasts Wednesday will be the red-letter day of the whole year, for on that day the sixteen clubs of the National and American leagues will line up for the initial contests in the 1911 pennant races. The week will also see the opening of the championship season in many of the minor baseball organizations.

A little girl went into a local chemist's and asked to be served with five cents' worth of pins.

"What is it for?" asked the puzzled shopman.

"It's to clean grease off father's coat."

"Oh, it is ammonia you want?"

"Yes, that's it—ammonia, I knew it was something to play on."

Did you tell the photographer that you didn't want your photo taken today?"

"Yes," answered the eminent but uncomely personage. "Did he take offence?"

"No, he said he didn't blame me."

Of sporting offers made by the large eaters of old, that made to Charles Gustavus of Sweden, when he was besieging Prague is worthy of recall. A peasant offered for the king's amusement to devour a large hog then and there. General Koenigsmark, so runs the tale, suggested that one with such an appetite ought to be honored as a sorer, on which the peasant said to the king: "Sir, if your majesty will make that old gentleman take of his spurs, I will eat him before I begin the pig."

"Hullo, Binks!" said Wobbles. "I hear you've been in the chicken business."

"Yes," answered Binks. "I've been."

"Made anything out of it?" asked Wobbles.

"Yes," said Binks. "Ten thousand dollars."

"Ten thousand dollars in the chicken business?"

"Nope; out of it," said Binks.

H. F. Youkam, chairman of the executive board of the Prince of Wales system of railroads, on one occasion took to task a young man in his employ who had announced his intention of marrying. The youth in question was drawing a small salary, and Youkam remonstrated with him on the general ground that he could not afford to marry, and that his wife would have to suffer great privation.

"Oh," said the young man. "I guess I've got as much right to starve a woman as you have."

THE LATEST WORD IN WORLD OF FASHIONS

Many New Styles Will be Brought into Use at Easter Parade This Year
All Kinds of Laces Still Popular

New York, April 10.—The Easter displays in the fashionable shops are attracting thousands of women and among them dressmakers from all parts of the country, who have come to New York to make a careful study of spring and summer styles, as prognosticators of the latest models. The displays are well worth seeing and are not only pleasing to the eye but highly instructive.

Not in many years have good laces been used so freely as they are this season and never within memory have the lace departments of the different fashion shops made so superb a showing of real laces, old and new, and of the imitations. The latest models are particularly popular, and stunning designs are offered in the hand draped flairs, some of them priced at figures prohibitive for the average shopper, but others less elaborate quite moderate in price as hand-wrought laces go.

Venetian lace is as much a favorite as ever and so is Irish, while Mechlin, Alençon, Chantilly and all the laces are equally popular for their appropriate purposes. A creamy or yellowed tone suggesting the mellow tint of the old laces is preferred even in the new lace and one sees much less of the pure white Irish and other white laces than in former years. The same is true of the batiste and linen embroideries, and the softened tone is indubitably more becoming than the white. It harmonizes more delightfully with everything save pure white lingerie materials, and since the big lace collars, bibs, etc., which were prominent this season, are to be used on all kinds of material, the yellowed lace is eminently desirable.

It is by no means an unusual thing to find four or five kinds of lace introduced upon one of the imported French models, and admirable results are obtained in this way, while the combination of a very bold, heavy lace, such as filet, Venetian or Irish, with a fine lace is almost inevitable whenever lace largely of a frock or coat. Beautiful unlined coats of lace, long clinging and exceedingly graceful of line, are shown by almost every importer and in many of the Empire laces is recognized by some sort of bolero or deep yoke effect, worked out in heavy lace, while the soft lengths below are of fine lace, through which the outline of the clinging frock shows vaguely.

New Style Coats.
Coats of the same general character in embroidered chiffon or tulle are numerous and again the lace coat, often an integral part of a costume, being worn rather as a tunic, than as a coat over a simple short waisted frock. The coats of one kind and another are really fascinating this spring. They run the gamut from the shortest and most whimsical of boleros to the full length ermine and there is extraordinary variety in their line.

These coats are fashioned of all sorts of materials and worn for all sorts of occasions. Many of the small coats have an air distinctly youthful, due largely to the low necks and collars, but there are many of the more serious of the plain chiffon in white or light color is frequently used and the plain line of the line is greatly liked. Occasionally one sees a heavy lace guimpe in a model coming from a prominent house and consisting of plain sheer chiffon with a line or two of colored stitching holding the narrow hem of the high collar level and perhaps repeated around the bottom of the collar, is used for some unusually pretty French models in voile, chiffon, foulard, etc.

Scarfs and Bashes.
The French makers have done wonderful things with scarfs and bashes, and kindles, and wonderful things too with skirt drapery, many of the loveliest models in very soft materials having intricate and graceful skirt drapery instead of the straight Empire lines or the straight simple tube or flared lines which have been so generally exploited during the winter. There are still plenty of the latter, though the better or bolder ideas are entirely passed, but the most beautiful of the skirt models are the draped ones. Naturally the worst fault of the draped skirt is that for there is no other thing in dressmaking which so positively degrades artistic inspiration as the draped skirt, and no bunting hand can triumph in this regard.

Plain Clinging Skirt.
The plain clinging skirt, opened at sides or front to show a petticoat or pantaloons is still much used, but many fashion authorities doubt that the petticoat idea will ever become generally popular with the women in this country. The effect of the style of skirts is more bold than artistic, more conspicuous than beautiful or becoming. Speaking of the latest innovation in fashions, a prominent designer of women's apparel in Paris said the other day, that Paris women are trying to persuade themselves that they are weary of the Grecian empire mode and that they would change it at the first favorable opportunity. There is undoubtedly truth in what he said, because every woman in Paris loves novelty and delights above all in changing the style of her gowns. At the same time she understands better than most women the kind of garment which is most becoming to her. For that reason it is quite possible that the Parisiennes will not be eager to make a change from the present style, which is so extremely becoming to a large majority of them.

Adjustable dresses to petticoats are not entirely new, but until recently it has not been easy to buy ready made these convenient transformations. Now, however, one can indulge in a close fitting jersey top, which will outwear half a dozen bouques, finely knitted and edged with a ruche; another more serviceable of moiré, checked and with a narrow plaid at the bottom; a third of changeable silk. These fashions are finished with a buttoned band, while buttons to correspond are placed on the petticoat. In this way it is easy to use up remnants of dress linings and have a petticoat to match each gown. Such a petticoat is convenient for the traveler, as the fashions fold into a much smaller space than the same number of skirts. Ties of narrow velvet, edged with tiny satin flowers continue in favor, due to be worn with a lingerie blouse is made of an inch-wide strip of Irish crochet. It rounds the neck, crosses at the front and to the back in round with the cross in held by a band of pink satin roses and green leaves, while a wreath outline each end.

A labret is made of plaid white net finished with quarter-inch hem at the side and an inch hem at the bottom, with a half-inch band of pink mull or

A smart tie to wear with turned-down collar is made of a narrow insertion of Irish crochet tied in a double stiff bow with strapped knot and ends falling well below the last line, where they are finished in fringe or crocheted pendants.

Another fashion fad is to wear a collar and jabot of dotted net or the heavy meshed crepe net bound on the edges with material of the frock.

Love Market "Slumps" on Account of Court's Decision—Defendant Declares Girl Proposed to Him

New York, April 10.—Heart-balm quotations again dropped heavily in the love market today when a jury in Justice McVoy's part of the city court fixed the damages for the wounded heart of Miss Sarah Swilling at only $500.

Miss Swilling sued Charles M. Scharf, a candy manufacturer, for $5,000 damages because he failed to fulfill his promise of marriage, made to her on a moonlit night, at Bergen beach in 1909. Miss Swilling, a tall, athletic, blond-haired girl, with a positive manner, was sure Scharf wanted her to grace his candy shop. He told her so weeks after he met her.

"You know, Sarah, you're the girl I want," she quoted him. "Tell me quickly, if you mean anything by going with me. To my aching heart which cries for you, answer 'yes' or 'no'."

Miss Swilling confessed, blushing, that she had answered "yes." Some weeks after, Miss Swilling says, Scharf abruptly ended his ardent suit for her heart and declined entirely to redeem his promise.

Scharf related at the trial that Miss Swilling had proposed marriage to him. And it wasn't long after.

"She certainly did," he stated emphatically. "It was like this: She told me she thought we would make a nice looking couple. I quite agreed. Then she asked me when I would marry her. I told her to wait until business picked up a bit and I would take the matter up with her. Then suddenly she broke off, after her proposal to me, and began this suit against me for breaking my heart."

"Honest, judge, I never broke any woman's heart. I'm sorry she thought she had proposed and been accepted. This isn't leap year. Why didn't she wait until next year, when she would have a license to ask a fellow to marry her?" he concluded.

The jury was out half an hour. Miss Swilling was delighted with the verdict, but averred that no financial recompense can ever really restore a broken heart.

Leading Democrats in Congress express the opinion that the national convention of their party next year is pretty certain to be held in the West. Chicago probably will be first choice, though the claims of St. Louis, Kansas City and Denver will have to be considered.

Fixed Assessment For G.T.P. Hotel Wrong In Principle

The more it is analyzed the more unreasonable does the proposal to give the Grand Trunk Pacific hotel a fixed assessment appear.

By setting their assessment at $50,000, the city council practically says to the Grand Trunk Pacific that the city of Edmonton will take from the other hotel keepers and property owners of the city the share of taxes which the G. T. P. should pay and will hand the amount over to the G. T. P., thereby making the hotel keepers who will have to compete with the G. T. P. pay not only their own taxes, but their share of the G. T. P. as well.

The hotel keepers, of course, owing to the fact that they are engaged in a traffic which is not held in especially high esteem by the majority, are not likely to get into the spotlight by making a clamor about the exemption of a rival, and even if they did it is scarcely likely that they would get much sympathy from the public. But suppose, for the sake of argument, that the proposal was to relieve from its fair share of taxation a department store instead of a hotel, what would the retail merchants have to say about it?

It is pretty safe to say that if T. Eaton, John Wanamaker, or The Harrards came to the city with a proposal to invest half a million dollars in a department store on condition that others were compelled to pay the department store's taxes, the council would not waste much time discussing the matter, and the retail merchants would see to it that no such bylaw passed even if the council did submit it.

And yet every argument that has been advanced in favor of exempting the G. T. P. hotel might as properly be advanced in favor of exempting T. Eaton or the Herrods.

The fixed assessment for the G. T. P. is wrong and should be defeated on principle.

Paper Clause Points The Moral of Free Trade Basis

Incorporated in the reciprocity agreement is a clause providing, under certain conditions, for absolute free trade in paper of the lower grades, such as news print and wrapping paper.

The clause, in brief, provides that in case the provinces of Ontario and Quebec withdraw their embargoes on pulp wood, paper becomes free either way.

The Toronto News, which is the champion of the protected interests, sees in this a heinous offence against Canada, and uses many columns of space to prove that it is a conspiracy to put a struggling industry out of business.

In the meantime, the paper makers of Canada are investing hundreds of thousands of dollars in improved machinery, getting ready to meet competition from the United States paper trust in Canada and to invade the markets of United States.

Under the reciprocity arrangement paper is practically the only manufactured product that goes onto the free list under any conditions, and its acceptance as a free trade product is contingent on something over which the federal government has no control.

The one product of paper, however, is sufficient to prove the moral. While the protectionists howl against free trade in paper the paper makers get ready to do business on a free trade basis.

The general application of the free trade rule would compel manufacturers in other lines to do the same thing.

The mistake that the Laurier government made in the reciprocity arrangement was in not accepting the offer made by United States to place all manufactured goods on the free list. No other country in the world can size up to Canada in raw materials, and any manufacturing institution which could not compete in an open market would prove by that very fact that it was a parasitical institution living on a special privilege which gave it a right to levy a tax against the people in order that it might be continued in existence for the personal aggrandisement of the stockholders of the same.

A Slander Which Merits Some Punishment

In a senseless dispatch which went out from Lethbridge a week or ten days ago it was reported that the militia of southern Alberta had received orders to hold itself in readiness to march at a moment's notice to the scene of the coal miner's strike in the Crow's Nest country.

In Alberta the story could do little harm, as the conditions are too well known to be misunderstood. But the dispatch is being repeated in the Eastern and United States papers with comment and enlargement, to the loss and detriment of the province of Alberta and the miners of District 18.

Somewhere in the law there should be a regulation to make it interesting for irresponsible correspondents who send out such stories. A dispatch which, by implication, represents an organization such as that of the coal miners to be of the Klu-Klux Klan or the Millie Maguire order is a slander which merits punishment.

And to think that the city let Lancy get away, to be substituted by this man Enzor.

While it is fine to be able to have a chance to give the incoming settlers a welcome to our city, it is scarcely fair to ask them to sleep under the sidewalk.

STORIES OF SOME FAMOUS IMPOSTORS

The subject of imposture is always an interesting one. Impostors in one shape or another have flourished since the beginning of the world, and are likely to flourish as long as human nature remains what it is. In Mr. Bram Stoker's latest book, "Famous Impostors," the histories of many famous cases of imposture have been grouped together to show that the art has been practiced in many forms—impersonators, pretenders, swindlers and rogues of all kinds; those who have masqueraded in order to acquire wealth or position, and those who have done so merely for fame or notoriety. The author, who is best known in the world of fiction, has chiefly dealt with his matter as though it were material for a novel, except that he claims, of course, that all the facts given are real and authentic.

History relates how, on January 21, 1793, the head of Louis XVI. fell in the Place de la Revolution, and by a constitutional usage his only son, the Dauphin, became the unwelcome King Louis XVI. The child-king, however, was in the hands of his enemies, and languishing in the prison of the Temple, where he was being educated by his jailer, one Simon, as a "saneable child." In June, 1795, death came to his relief in his eleventh year. In the ensuing six years seven attempts were made to personate the dead Dauphin, six of which were unsuccessful, and the seventh partially so, as far as the pretender was concerned. As this last attempt contains some humorous details, it may perhaps be worth while to recount the story briefly. The claimant in the kingship of France in this case was none other than a half-bred frog, one called Elizabeth, who appeared to be the ninth son of Thomas Williams, otherwise Thorakwancan, and an Indian woman, Mary Ann Komkewentia. This lady, who spoke only frogish and could not write, said at the opportune time that she was not the mother of Lazar (frogish for Elizabeth). Elizabeth said he resembled her sitting at the knees of a beautiful lady who wore a rich dress with a train. He also remembered seeing in his childhood a terrible person; shown the picture of Simon (the jailer), he recognized him with apparent fear. He learned English, but imperfectly, became a Protestant and a missionary, and married. His profile was something like that of the typical Bourbon. In 1811 the Prince de Joinville, seeing him on his travels in the United States, told him according to his (Elizabeth's) account that he was the son of a king, and got him to sign and seal a parchment, already prepared, the same being a solemn affidavit of the Crown of France in favor of Louis Philippe, made by Charles Louis, son of Louis XVI, also styled Louis XVII, King of France and Navarre. The seal used was the seal of France, the one used by the old monarchy. The "poor Indian with untutored mind" made with charming diffidence the saving clause regarding the seal, "if I am not mistaken." Of course, there was in the application a clause regarding the payment of a sum of money which would enable him to live in great luxury in this country or in France as I might choose." One is surprised to learn that Louis Philippe, who was always anxious to reach the danger to his tottering throne, made a settlement on him from his Civil List, and the "subsequent proceedings" troubled him no more.

The majority of readers who have enjoyed Thophile Gautier's fascinating romance, "Maitresse de Maupin," are probably unaware that the heroine was a real person. The Maitresse de Maupin of real life was a singer at the Opera, in Paris, at the end of the eighteenth century. She was the daughter of a man of somewhat humble extraction, engaged in secretarial work with the Count d'Armaignac; and whilst only a girl married a man named Maupin, employed in the province. With him she had lived but a few months when she ran away with a French fencing master named Serre, under whose tuition she became an excellent swordswoman. Her first serious escapade occurred during a professional tour from Paris to Marseilles, in which the act-res took the part of a man. She gained the affections of the haughty daughter of a rich Marseilles merchant, and, as a man, ran away with him. Being pursued, they took refuge in a convent, to escape from which she set the building on fire and took the girl with her by force. The girl, however, eventually escaped from her deceiver, and returned to her parents. La Maupin was afterwards captured, but succeeded in avoiding punishment. The exploits of Maupin alone would fill a book, but space does not permit of more than one other anecdote concerning her. One night, attended as a man, to a ball given by a prince of the blood. In that garb, apparently with the deliberate intention of provoking a quarrel, she challenged by three different men, each of whom, when the consequent fight came on, she ran through the body, after which she returned to the ball.

Perhaps the most interesting portion of the book is that dealing with the tradition of the "Hissey Boy." This story impugns the identity—and more than the identity—of Queen Elizabeth, one of the most famous and glorious rulers whom the world has seen. The tradition is that the little Princess Elizabeth, during her childhood, was sent away with her governess for change of air to Hissey. Whilst there, word was sent to her governess that the King was coming to see his little daughter; but shortly before the time fixed, and whilst his arrival was expected at any hour, the child suddenly sickened and died. The governess, afraid to tell her father, Henry VIII., hid the body, and rushed off to the village to try to find some other child whose body could be substituted for that of the dead princess. But the population was small, and no girl child of any kind was available. The distracted woman then tried to find a living girl child who could be passed off for the princess, whose body could be hidden away for the time. Throughout the little village and its surroundings was to be found no girl child of an age reasonably suited for the purpose required. More than ever distracted, for time was flying by, she determined to take the greater risk of a boy substitute, if a boy could be found. Happily for the poor woman's safety, for her very life now hung in the balance, this venture was easy enough to begin. There was just such a boy as would suit the special purpose for which he was required. He was close at hand and available. So he was clothed in the dress of the dead child, they being of about equal stature, and when the King's favourite appeared the poor, overwrought governess was able to breathe freely, and the King's suit passed off successfully. The suggestion, in fact, is that the person known to history as Queen Elizabeth was none other than the Duke of Richmond, King Henry's illegitimate son by Elizabeth Blount, one of the ladies in waiting to Catherine of Aragon, the first of this claim Mr. Bram Stoker brings forward much evidence of a circumstantial character.

Moving Picture Craze in England

London Alone Has Over 250 Picture Theatres, With Daily Additions.

Five years ago there were no moving picture theatres in England. Attempts had been made to popularize the cinematograph, but without success. Today there are 2,000 cinematograph theatres in England, London alone has upwards of 250, and it is said that $10,000,000 would not cover the money invested in them. New houses are being constructed as quickly as the methods of English builders will permit; new companies are being floated day by day; and though some of them fail and go out of business, many are flourishing.

One little house near Piccadilly circus seating less than 200 people returns a profit of more than $50,000 a year to its fortunate owners. Many others show more than $25,000 on the right side of the ledger after a year's work. In certain sections of London, so great is the popularity of the cinema, that the cinematograph theatres are built side by side, with harkers in front to boom the merits of the competing shows. It is possible to stand in Leicester square and toss stones in different directions that will alight on the roofs on no fewer than five houses that are turning hundreds away on Sundays, Saturdays and holidays.

The Wherefore.

What is the cause of this remarkable change in attitude on the part of the English public and in the prosperity of the moving picture theatres? In the opinion of those best qualified to say, it is due to American films. English companies there are, French Companies and Italian companies and Norwegian companies almost without number, but with the exception of the French company, no one of them has the enterprise or is willing to spend the money necessary to turn out pictures of the variety and quality demanded by the discriminating public that supports the moving picture theatres.

A Dissipation.

Aside from the liquor saloons, which are open at certain hours, the moving picture theatres are the sole dissipation of London's puritanical Sunday. On that day the cinematograph houses are open for "charity." It is announced that the proceeds will be turned over to such-and-such a hospital. The authorities then wink at the violation of the National observance of the variety people not being in the business for their health, turn over to the institution mentioned only a part of the proceeds. The usual practice is for the moving picture house to retain 75 per cent. of the day's takings for "expenses," forwarding the remaining 25 per cent. to the charity. But the managers are not satisfied with that and are circulating petitions for signatures calling upon the authorities to allow the shows to open on Sundays without this payment to charity. There are many who believe that the moving picture craze is simply a boom that will die out in a few years like the roller-skating boom that struck England four years ago. Today there are very few traces of it left except in the holes it put in the pockets of thousands of investors.

If there's a new tummy out in Men's Furnishing, you'll be sure to find it at Kelly & Moore's.

HINTS FOR AMATEUR AUTO DRIVERS

Some Fine Points Which One Must Learn Before Attempting to Drive a Car, Control and Gear Shifting are Puzzling at First.

The most difficult task for the driving novice to master is gear shifting. The disengagement of the clutch together with the speed lever movement is quite as difficult at first as putting the head with one hand and rubbing the chest with the other. If there were not so many things to do all at the same time, the beginner would be less confused. However, driving is a simple art when once mastered, says W. H. Stewart, of the Stewart Automobile Academy.

Preparatory to starting the engine one should always be cautious. First note that the gear lever is in neutral position, then set the emergency brake. This accomplished, the danger of being run over by one's own car is eliminated. The next very important step is to fully retard the spark. With this in a safe position to avoid the dangerous "kick-back" and the throttle partially open the engine is ready for the switch and cranking.

Assuming that the engine is started, advance the spark to the normal position on the quadrant and adjust the hand throttle until the motor runs smoothly and without racing. The driver is then ready to take his position behind the wheel.

Since most operators use the foot accelerator in preference to the hand throttle, let us assume its use in the present instance. Before starting the clutch it may be well to note a few don'ts, namely:

- Don't place the hands above the centre of the steering wheel at any time.
- Don't take too firm a grip on the steering wheel; it looks awkward and is tiresome and dangerous.
- Don't race the motor.
- Don't move the gear lever without disengaging the clutch.
- Don't let the clutch in fast, especially when starting a car from a standstill.
- Don't move the foot away from the clutch pedal when the car is moving—it should always be in position.

Don't start the car on any other than first speed.

Don't slip the clutch too much, it will burn or wear away beyond repair.

Don't watch the fellow behind; he is watching you.

Don't take your eyes off the road for any reason whatever while the car is rolling.

With the engine started, and bearing these "don'ts" in mind, let us proceed to start the car. First, throw out the clutch, release the emergency brake, and place the gear lever in first speed. Then let the clutch come back easily, accelerating the engine as it takes the load. When the car is rolling, release the clutch from first to intermediate gear. This operation must be accomplished before the momentum already gained is lost, or it will be necessary to start over again at first speed.

Having gained the intermediate speed, and assuming the next to be the high, one should accelerate, considerably and then repeat the former clutch and lever movement. At first it will be found difficult to judge the proper time when to shift the gears quickly and noiselessly. Most beginners dwell too long upon the shifting of the lever and hesitate to engage the clutch.

For such it is well to note that the clutch may engage very rapidly, provided sufficient momentum is attained before the shift of gears is made. It is also well to remember that the power should be applied as the clutch begins to engage. If in advance of this a jolt is unavoidable. If too late, the motor may become stalled.

A Money Maker

We give below a comparison of prices on the three principal retail streets of the City of Edmonton, which will prove to you that the property mentioned below is a snap that will not be on the market long.

Jasper Ave., between 9th and Queen's; $800 to $2,050 per front foot.
First St., between C.N.R. tracks and Jasper; $800 to $1,300 per front foot.
Namayo Ave., between Isabella and Jasper, south of C.N.R. tracks; $400 to $265 per front foot.

Note—The property mentioned below is the only property for sale in above section on Namayo for $265 per front foot.

The time to buy property on a street with a future is when it is cheap, when the factor cost of a building on its property and readily rent same, deriving an income of about 10 per cent. net on this investment. This income, together with the increase in value of property located on the right street in a city whose future is assured, where there will be such development that will make prices go only one way, and that is up, should be sufficient to convince the most conservative buyer that with two houses, home, at a price of $17,500, on easy terms, located opposite "The Canadian Department Store," a store doing a retail business of $150,000 per year, is worth more than the money asked.

We would gladly have you compare the price with the prices of other adjoining properties. We would be pleased to prove, upon calling at our office, that this property is a

Revenue Producer

We will see the day when Namayo Avenue property will sell for $800 per front foot, and that statement is not "far-fetched." You can also be certain that this property will sell for $25,000 before Sept. 30th, 1911.

Property mentioned is on sale at the above price until Saturday next, April 15th. Determine the advantages that the street has as a Retail Centre—take a walk and see for yourself the amount of business that is transacted—then after having convinced yourself that this property offered is a gift edge proposition, call at our office, give us a deposit to bind the bargain, and we will see to it that the goods are delivered.

REAL ESTATE BULLETIN

Jasper Avenue, Centre and West, First Street, and the East End Avenues, are all being enquired for, and movement is taking place in all of these business or prospective business sections.

In residential properties, vacant lots are being sought in the H. B. Reserve, in the West End, but these are few and held at good prices, driving many home-builders farther afield, so that the Great Estate, Inglewood and Glenora are reaping the benefit.

The H. B. Reserve, north of the C. N. R. yards, having a street railway service, is also benefitting from the same cause.

In houses, the Great Estate, having a number of modern residences in the southern part, where a good view is obtainable, is receiving much notice. We have a very full list of good residences for sale and shall be pleased to give home-seekers our best assistance in finding houses to suit their special requirements.

ALBERTA PARK

We are now making daily trips to this suburb to accommodate prospective investors, and as we are selling so much of these, the property should be completely sold out in a couple of months, especially as this is now the cheapest land in the vicinity.
